State Selects Major Chandler

Has Agreed to Examine First 225 Applicants for Inspectors Under Motor Vehicle Law—Importance of New Directors.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, July 17. (Special).—Major George F. Chandler of Kingston, who organized the New York State Troopers and who for years has been the commanding officer of that organization, has agreed to examine the first 225 applicants for positions as inspectors of the motor vehicle law of the state tax commission. Major Chandler is a physician and surgeon and for years examined all the applicants for position in the state troopers' organization.

Examine 75 Each Day.

It is pointed out by Charles A. Barnett, motor vehicle commissioner, that the schedule of examinations made out by Col. Chandler calls for the examination of 75 men today in Albany and 75 additional men on Friday. The age limits prescribed by the commissioner are between 21 and 40 years.

Training for Men Selected.

It is expected that by the end of the present week at least 100 men will be found eligible for appointment as inspectors and will be given positions. These men will be subjected to a course of training in the features of the recently enacted amendments to the Motor Vehicle Law and within the next few weeks will be placed in active service.

Commissioner Harnett Explained that he had asked Major Chandler to assist him in securing his force of inspectors because he desired none but men physically and mentally sound to take the task that is bound to confront an organization engaged in a work directly affecting millions of people, and that in view of Major Chandler's success with the State Troopers, there could be no question as to his ability to select men who will be a distinct credit to New York state.

Training Begins July 21.

Commissioner Harnett has designated July 21 as the date upon which the period of training will begin. Governor Smith, Assemblyman Lewis G. Stapley, Frank Goodwin, Robert Stockell and William L. Dill will address the training class for inspectors.

Assemblyman Stapley was Chairman of the motor vehicle committee of the assembly which drafted the amendments to the Motor Vehicle Law under which the inspectors will work and Messrs. Goodwin, Stockell and Dill are authorities upon highway matters from the states of Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Jersey, respectively.

Invitations have also been extended to representatives of automobile organizations and safety organizations to deliver lectures before the training class.

With the coming of the corps of automobile inspectors, all of whom will be equipped with motor vehicles, the wave of holdups on the public highways of the state is expected to be put to an end. The inspectors will be distributed along all the highways and signal stations are to be erected so that they may call for aid if that emergency arises.

McAdoo Delegate Quits Politics

Delegate Brown, Who Switched From Smith to McAdoo, Withdraws From Party Affairs.

Former Representative Lathrop Brown, who was one of the two members of the Democratic National Convention to vote for the nomination of McAdoo, announced Wednesday his withdrawal from active participation in party affairs. However he promised, "whole-hearted support" of the convention's nominees.

Among the reasons given by him for his withdrawal were the "finding of myself at variance with the policies of the state organization as dominated by Tammany Hall" and a desire "not to cause embarrassment to my friends."

Roscoe Irwin of this city, was the other member of the New York delegation, who switched from Smith to McAdoo.

Picnic at Forsyth Park.

The Lutheran Church Sunday school of Saugerties, held a day's outing and picnic at Forsyth Park Wednesday.

An ice cream and cake sale will be held Friday evening at the Eddyville Reformed Church.

LaFollette List Shows Victory

But His List Shows New York as "Doubtful"—Object of Candidacy is to Throw Election in Congress.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, July 17.—Nine western states, with 41 votes in the electoral college, were claimed by Senator Robert M. LaFollette's managers in an unofficial list made public here today.

Eight additional states, with 108 votes, making an aggregate of 149 in the electoral college, were listed as "probable". In the second group LaFollette was conceded by his lieutenants to have better than an even chance of victory in the November election.

The more optimistic of his workers claimed that other states now classified as "doubtful" might swing LaFollette's electoral college vote to 265, sufficient to elect him president. New York, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey, where LaFollette plans to make a vigorous drive, were included in this group.

The nine states listed as virtually "in" were Idaho, Iowa, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Washington and Wisconsin. Those classified as "probable" LaFollette states were California, Colorado, Illinois, Kansas, Michigan, Ohio, Oklahoma and Wyoming, practically all west of the Mississippi river and admitted progressive strongholds.

Should the hopes of LaFollette's managers be realized, even to the extent of only carrying the nine states with 71 votes, impartial political observers predicted that the election of a president probably would be thrown into Congress, admittedly one of the chief aims of the militant Wisconsin senator. Without these states, it was predicted that neither President Coolidge nor John W. Davis could poll enough votes to win.

Coolidge and Davis managers here vigorously disputed the claims of LaFollette's strength in the west, saying he would be lucky to capture five of the nine states listed as "certain". They conceded LaFollette but little chance to carry any state east of the Mississippi.

Washington, July 17.—Artillery shells have fallen within half a block of the American consulate at Sao Paulo, Brazil, in the fighting between Federal troops and rebel forces, according to official advices received by the state department today.

Some of the shells shook the consulate building but without damage. The city of Sao Paulo, meanwhile, was completely surrounded by an army of 15,000 Federal troops, the dispatch added. They were concentrated on the city's outskirts in an effort to drive the rebel forces from their entrenched positions.

A terrific bombardment of the city was maintained by Federal batteries throughout the day, it was added.

The Hotel D'Oeste, a short distance from the consulate, was struck by shells and six persons killed. The bombardment created a panic among the civilians in the city. Thousands fled to the Federal lines for safety.

The industrial suburb, Braz, was also bombarded. Scores of buildings were demolished. Many were wounded.

Federal troops already have entered and recaptured parts of the besieged city, according to an official communique issued by the Brazilian embassy at noon. Federal cavalry, the statement said, had ridden into the city reaching some of the central streets, while scout patrols had reached the Municipal theater in the heart of Sao Paulo.

Expel News Associations.

Buenos Aires, July 17.—The United Press Association and the Associated Press, news gathering organizations, have been expelled from Brazil, according to dispatches from Rio de Janeiro which credit the information to official announcements. The government charged the two concerns with "distributing false news concerning the revolutionary movement" and ordered them to close all their Brazilian offices.

HOUSTON SELECTED FOR 1925 CONVENTION

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, July 17.—Houston, Texas, was selected by the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, in convention here today, as the 1925 meeting place of the convention.

One of the causes for failure of Europe to get back to normalcy is that the production is exceeding consumption. Winston Churchill told the convention.

"We have not forgotten how to produce, but we have forgotten how to consume," said Churchill.

Churchill asserted that the advertisers would play an important part in repairing the damage resulting from the World War.

Truck Driver Mistook Direction.

The driver of an automobile truck unacquainted with Kingston streets took the wrong direction at Derrenbacher's Corners early this morning and the truck and its load went in the Rondout creek. The load was removed and later the truck was hauled safely to the bank, undamaged.

McLeary Slain by Mountaineer

Robbery was Motive Which Caused Killing of United States Army Officer Who Disappeared July 2—Murderer Confesses.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Cheraw, S. C., July 17.—A posse of Federal and local police left here early today with Mortimer H. King, confessed slayer of Major Samuel H. McLeary, for the scene of the crime in an effort to recover the body.

King, in his confession, admitted shooting the army officer after he and a companion were given a ride in the army officer's automobile. The body was hidden in a swamp about 10 miles from here. Robbery was the motive.

The arrest of King ended a 15 day search for trace of Major McLeary, who disappeared July 2 while enroute to Fort Moultrie, S. C., from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. The army man, an artillery instructor, had been transferred and made the trip by automobile. Police of three states, army officials and the department of justice agents joined in the search.

According to King's confession, the mountaineer and a companion, whose identity was withheld by authorities, halted the army officer on the road near here, requesting a "lift." After riding a few miles, they made McLeary stop his car, forced him out into the road, shot him to death, and then buried the body in a nearby swamp. King admitted, police said, that the murder was actuated by robbery motives.

Suspected of knowledge of the murder, King was arrested several days ago. He strongly denied all guilt and was released when police failed to fasten the crime on him. Department of justice agents sent here, later searched his home and King was trapped by the finding of an army shirt of McLeary's hidden in the house. King was re-arrested and under a grueling cross examination he broke down and confessed the murder.

The shirt, which let to King's confession, was identified as McLeary's through laundry marks. It had been taken from the army officer's traveling bags, which were in his automobile. In his confession, King told of stripping McLeary's body of all valuables after the murder and of attempting to flee in the slain man's automobile.

The car was driven across the mountain of Asheville, N. C., and thence toward Canton, where King lived. In an effort to cross one particularly high mountain the car was accidentally driven into a ditch and was abandoned. Found later by police, it bore blood stains and yielded sufficient clues to lead ultimately to King's arrest. King said most of McLeary's belongings, taken from the car, were buried in the mountains. Police plan to recover them as additional evidence against the confessed slayer.

Nations Grapple With Knotty Problems

Allied Conference on Daves Plan Divides Work Among Committees—American Delegates on All Committees.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, July 17.—Full sessions of the Allied Conference on the Daves plan were abandoned today while three committees of the delegates from the ten nations grappled with knotty problems.

The American delegates, Ambassador Frank Kellogg and Col. James A. Logan, Jr., unofficial American observer on the Reparations Commission, had the busy task of serving on all three committees.

While serious difficulties are ahead of the conference, the way seemed cleared today to an eventual settlement by the general feeling that the United States will permit an American to serve in the unofficial but highly important capacity of "reparations agent" with powers to arbitrate all disputes arising between Germany and the Allied countries.

The press today played up the statement of Logan that the United States government would not object to the drafting of an American by the Reparations Commission.

The delicate problem remained, however, what body would be empowered to do the drafting. The English and some of the other nations want the Hague Court to make the appointment while the French seem to think it is the function of the Reparations Commission.

Of the three committees, the most difficult task faces that burdened with the duty of defining German default under the Daves plan—to decide what body will judge when there had been a default, and to lay down measures to meet a default.

The secondary committee is considering measures for restoring Germany's economic and fiscal unity, and the third with methods of transferring payments from Germany to the creditor nations.

51st Pioneer Infantry Reunion.

Lieutenant David Walsh will be at the state armory on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock to make arrangements for holding a reunion of the 51st Pioneer Infantry Regiment. All former members of the regiment are urged to be at the armory at this time.

Government Will Deport Rush

Train Rider From Australia. Arrested Here, Must Leave America—Other Police Court Cases.

The police department received word from the immigration authorities on Wednesday that Norman Rush, who was arrested on Sunday for riding a West Shore freight train, had until July 22 to stay in this country, after which he would be deported. Rush was discharged by Judge Schirick and was told to go to New York where he expects to sail for England. He came to this country from Australia.

Henry Sullivan of Alligerville was arrested on the corner of Broadway and Cornhill streets on Wednesday by Officer Murphy for being drunk and disorderly. Judge Schirick fined him $5 in city court.

Patrick J. Carney, who says that his home is in Scranton, Pa., was arrested on Wednesday by Grover Walker on East Strand on a charge of panhandling. Carney pleaded guilty to the charge and was given fifteen minutes to get out of town by Judge Schirick.

Lightning Bolt Ties Up Traffic

Albany District Crippled When Lightning Partly Wrecked United Traction Company's Transformer—Watervliet Isolated from Troy.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, July 17.—Street car service was completely tied up in Albany, Troy, Watervliet, Cohoes and Rensselaer for more than three hours this morning when a bolt of lightning partly wrecked the United Traction Company's transformer station at Watervliet.

Thousands of persons in the five cities were more than an hour late for work. The tie-up came as the morning rush hour service was getting underway.

When the power went off the draw of the Congress street bridge between Watervliet and Troy, was open. It could not be closed until repairs had been made in the transformer station and all traffic was held up between the two cities.

The lightning was accompanied by a heavy rain and wind storm. Hundreds of autos in the five cities were pressed into service as jitneys.

Officials of the traction company said this was the worst tie up caused by lightning in many years.

Trolley service between Albany and Schenectady was virtually at a standstill. The Schenectady cars were able to operate only to the Albany city limits.

Spanish War Veteran Freed

Werner Bachmann was given a ninety-day furlough from the Soldiers' Home at Dayton, Ohio, a week or so ago and then decided to come back to Kingston, where he had enlisted for service in the Spanish American war at the outbreak of hostilities, and visit some of his friends.

Bachmann evidently met at least one friend who introduced him to some of Kingston's prohibition drunks, for on Wednesday he was picked up by North Front and Wall streets by Officer Hess, too drunk to give his name or tell where he was from or where he expected to go. This morning in police court Bachmann was sobered up, somewhat but still very nervous.

As this was his first offense Judge Schirick fined him $5 but suspended payment of the fine on condition that Bachmann leave this city for Philadelphia by Friday afternoon, where he also expects to visit friends.

Gas From Coffee Kills Laborers

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Balboa Heights, Panama, July 17.—Four laborers were dead today and several in a critical condition as the result of an explosion yesterday in the hold of the salvaged Pacific Mail liner Columbia where the men were working. Gas emanating from decomposed coffee in the hold was responsible for the explosion.

One of the injured was Seppard Shreve, diver-hero who rescued the American sailors imprisoned in the submarine O-5 which sank off Cristobal last fall. His condition is serious.

Quarantine All City Breweries

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 17.—Every brewery in Philadelphia was put under quarantine by police here today, under orders of Safety Director Stedley Butler, and no beer will be permitted to be sent out until completion of the investigation of the sale of poison liquor which has caused three deaths here in two days.

Details of police were ordered to work on shifts and keep a 24 hour guard over the several scores of beer manufacturing plants in the city.

Murder Reveals Vice Conditions

Staten Island Boy Believed to be Victim of Degenerates Who Infested "Rattlesnake Nest"—Public Demonstration Feared.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, July 17.—Two employees of the Sea View hospital at New Dorp, Staten Island, were today being held by police for questioning in connection with the brutal murder of seven-year-old Francis McDonnell, who was strangled to death in the woods near his Port Richmond home.

They are "Sergeant" Clyde Patterson, forty four, an orderly, and Jacob Gottlieb, eighteen, a kitchen helper.

Patterson was arrested charged with a crime similar to that which Medical Examiner Mord charges had been perpetrated upon the McDonnell boy. District Attorney Albert C. Pach made Gottlieb the complaining witness against Patterson and ordered Gottlieb held as a material witness.

After questioning employees of the hospital which is a city institution about two miles from the scene of the crime, Pach declared Patterson was the leader of a group of abnormal employees of the hospital adjacent to the poor farm, which frequented "Rattlesnake Nest," a portion of the woods near where the boy mutilated body was found buried under a pile of underbrush, his face and body a mass of scratches and the straps of his overalls knotted around his throat.

"I believe the murder to have been committed by two men," Pach declared. "Patterson was away from the hospital Monday, that being his day off."

Asserting he had found raisins in the slain boy's stomach, Medical Examiner Mord said:

"I am wondering whether these raisins didn't come from the kitchen of Sea View Hospital."

Police are seeking two former hospital employees who are said to have belonged to the group that frequented "Rattlesnake Nest."

The body of the murdered boy was removed this morning from the morgue, Port Richmond, to the McDonnell family home. Great secrecy attended the removal, police guarding against any public demonstration, feared because of the great indignation aroused in Port Richmond and vicinity by the murder.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock Friday morning, at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Port Richmond, with burial in the Calvary Cemetery.

Dr. G. Kremer, medical superintendent at the Sea View Hospital, today denied that vice conditions exist at Sea View Hospital, contradicting charges made by District Attorney Pach.

He admitted that several employees at the hospital had been discharged recently, but said the action was taken because their work had been unsatisfactory and not because of vice conditions.

Court Dissolves Local Company

There has been filed in the office of the Ulster county clerk an order made by Justice Ellis J. Staley of Albany in Supreme court, in the matter of dissolving the Bachelet Medical Appliance Company, Inc., a corporation with principal office in Kingston. The report of John W. Eckert, referee, that the allegations of the petitioners are true and that the corporation is insolvent, is confirmed and it is ordered that the corporation be dissolved. Joseph M. Fowler is continued as temporary receiver with all the powers of a permanent receiver to carry out the orders of the court for dissolution of said corporation, and it is further ordered that all funds coming into the hands of the receiver not needed for disbursement be deposited in the Kingston Trust Company. It is further ordered petitioners, including fees of referee and stenographer, recover the sum of $160.32 for costs and disbursements.

LEONARD AND WALKER WILL MEET AUGUST 21

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, July 17.—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion and Mickey Walker, welterweight champion, signed articles today to meet in a bout for the welterweight title on the evening of August 21 at Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City.

The bout has been sanctioned by the New Jersey State Boxing Commission. The winner will meet Dave Shade, the Californian.

Under the New Jersey laws there will be no decision and Leonard will have to knock out Walker to win the Jersey boy's title.

The fighters will work on a percentage basis of the receipts.

Huckleberry Season.

The local strawberry season is almost ended. Huckleberry pickers are now busy and are supplying the local market with the popular fruit. Retailers are disposing of them at from 30 to 35 cents a quart basket. Black raspberries, antwerp, gooseberries and a few blackberries are on sale at the retail fruiterers. There are plenty of cherries and currants to be had at reasonable prices.

Burning Stream of Gas In Alsen Freight Wreck

Plug Pulled from Burning Tanker Causes Spread of Flames in West Shore Freight Wreck Which Held Up Traffic Many Hours—Several Days Required to Clear Wreckage.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Brough, England, July 17.—The American round the world flyers reached here from Croydon at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The flight required an hour and 43 minutes.

The big planes made perfect ascents from Croydon, circled the field several times at low altitudes and then headed towards Brough in perfect formation with Lieutenant Lowell Smith, the flight commander, showing the way.

A stop of eight or ten days will be made at Brough. The planes are to be fitted with pontoons for ocean work, and the engines thoroughly overhauled.

With 18,000 miles behind them and less than 8,000 ahead, the flyers were in a cheerful mood, particularly at the prospect of getting somewhat at Brough while the planes are being worked over. They have been complaining of lack of sleep and show the effects of the strain.

Before stepping into his plane Lieutenant Smith cheered some British aviators by declaring he felt sure Stuart MacLaren, British round the world flyer, who is overdue at Paramashiru Island in the Kuriles, is not lost.

"I do not think there is any need to worry," he said. "I believe he is absolutely all right but came down because of bad weather up above. We came over the same course and arrived safely with it."

"It's pretty foggy there this time of the year and the chances are a fog forced MacLaren down. Another thing, the lack of news means nothing because communication is difficult from those islands."

Both north and south bound traffic was held up as a result of the accident and passengers were transferred around the wreck from Alsen to Comenton and from Comenton to Alsen by auto busses which had been pressed into service. State Troopers were on hand and regulated traffic at the scene of the accident.

British Flyer Lost on Pacific

No Trace of Round the World Flyer, but British Officials Believe He Landed Somewhere Because of Foggy Weather.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, July 17.—No trace has been found of A. Stuart MacLaren, British round the world flyer, or his two companions who are missing somewhere along the dreary 450 mile stretch of the Pacific ocean between Ytorofu Island and Paramashiru Island.

Failure of Japanese destroyers to find trace of the airman or their plane was reported today in dispatches from Tokyo which said the search was being continued.

British officials, however, do not believe the royal air force expedition has met with disaster. Instead they believe MacLaren came down because of foggy weather and expect to get news from him soon from Broughton Bay in Shimushiru Island where an emergency base has been established for just such a misfortune as has apparently overtaken the British flyer.

Color was lent to this view of the situation by the Japanese advices which said the weather was cloudy but calm and windless.

One of the most optimistic and most interested of those awaiting word from the far-off Kuriles Islands is Mrs. Stuart MacLaren, wife of the British flight commander. She was one of the first to greet the American flyers on their arrival at Croydon yesterday and wish them luck.

Mrs. MacLaren said she had "faith in MacLaren's ability to come through."

"I think he has been forced down in some isolated spot," she said. "He has some very bad luck. I had a letter from him the other day and he said he was going ahead at all costs."

With MacLaren are Lieut. William Plenderleith, pilot, and Sergeant R. Andrews, engineer.

Yale Crew Still Winning.

Stabbing Affray At East Kingston

East Kingston was the scene of another stabbing party on Wednesday evening when Fanny Stevens, colored, became rather hostile, while under the influence of liquor, and stabbed Joseph Mitchell in the neck.

Mitchell, who is also one of the colored residents of the town, was taken to the Kingston City Hospital where his wound was cared for, while Fanny was brought to the Ulster county jail. She will be held for arraignment before Justice of the Peace Walter Webber at Flatbush, pending the outcome of Mitchell's injuries.

Magician's Death
Recalls Lincoln

Martyred President Knew Cooke and Put Him Through Tricks That Made Him Famous.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Los Angeles, July 17.—Another of the frail fakes connecting the present generation with the stirring days of the Civil War was broken here in the death of Horatio G. Cooke, friend of President Lincoln and who claimed to have witnessed the assassination of Lincoln.

Known professionally as Major Harry Cooke, "the American wizard," Cooke was the organizer and honorary perpetual president of the Los Angeles Society of Magicians, following forty years of experience as an entertainer and exposé of fraudulent methods used by fake "mediums."

It was his skill as a magician which first brought Cooke to the personal attention of the subsequently martyred President. Cooke's reputation for deftness with a rope had spread among his army companions when he was summoned to the office of the Secretary of War in connection with his duties. While Cooke was there President Lincoln entered and remarked:

"Well, had I am informed that you are rather tricky!"

Cooke, feeling that he was being reprimanded, protested his innocence of any wrongdoing.

"I thought we would make an investigation," was the President's comment. Then, to Cooke's surprise, a fifty-foot clothesline was produced, and he was tied up by two generals and a Senator and commanded to release himself. Cooke thus learned that knowledge of his faculty in the tricks which subsequently made Houdini famous had gone broadcast.

Cooke enlisted in the Union Army at the age of 18 years, in the second year of the Civil War, leaving the Iowa country school he had been teaching and taking eight of his former pupils into the army with him. He was born in Norwich, Conn., February 1, 1844.

Cooke's experience with the rifle resulted in his being named a special scout, with the brevet rank of captain; while in this capacity he and his little party were ambushed and captured by Confederate guerrillas, subjected to various indignities and threatened with death. While under guard, awaiting execution in reprisal for the killing of some of the guerrillas by federal troops, Cooke's almost phenomenal ability to wriggle out of bonds enabled him to escape, release his companions and flee with them into the woods, where they were later, half-starved, for several days, until picked up by Union cavalry.

This adventure resulted in Cooke's loss of his letter of appointment as a scout, signed by President Lincoln. In the hope of replacing the historic document Cooke called at the White House on the evening of the president's assassination and was told that the nation's executive has gone to Ford's Theater for the evening.

Cooke followed him there. He had been in the theater about twenty minutes when a pistol shot was heard, and J. Wilkes Booth was seen to leap from the president's box to the stage. With many others, Cooke remained near the theater, across the street from the house in which the dying Lincoln was taken. The following morning Secretary of War Stanton, seeing him there, took him into the room where the president's body lay and permitted him to look upon the great man's face.

USE OF YEAST GIVES GREATER EGG YIELD

In all the experiments in poultry feeding there has been the search for something that would benefit the fowl throughout its life—something that would lower mortality and promote growth in young chicks, bring growing birds into early laying, keep egg production constantly high, make molting a short period, and invigorate the birds so that their eggs would be fertile and hatchable.

Now, according to the men who have been experimenting with it, yeast—perfectly dry yeast, which keeps indefinitely and is convenient to use—supplies that needed something.

Poultrymen who have been adding yeast to their mash (and the practice is widespread today) report most amazing results, not only in one, but in every department of poultry husbandry. Fertility of eggs is increased, says one. Quick growth is promoted, says another. Egg production is boosted, says another. And so on.

Rodney de Lisle, of Langley Prairie, B. C. compared the egg production of a yeast-fed lot with a lot on an ordinary good ration and observed a remarkable difference in egg production in favor of the yeast-fed birds. And he found other benefits besides.

"By feeding yeast," he says, "I was able to cut down the protein content of other rations—I cut down the protein content of the mash by 25 per cent—used more bran and reduced the cost of my feed, the protein content of which is, of course, the most expensive. The yeast-fed birds are unquestionably better developed and have more vitality, apart from their increased egg production."

Results like these are encouraging poultrymen more and more to add yeast to their feed. Many already look upon yeast-feeding as the most valuable contribution to poultry husbandry in fifty years.

It is really too bad that a barber can't tell in advance whether or not a woman will look well with bobbed hair. But after all what difference would it make? He wouldn't dare express a positive opinion. Let a barber try telling a woman that she wouldn't look well with bobbed hair and he'd learn in a minute that his opinion didn't amount to much.

UNDERTAKERS FEEL

NEED OF DIVERSION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Cincinnati, July 17.—An appeal to the public to understand that the life of an undertaker is replete with "weeds of mourning and tears of sorrow" and to realize the necessity of recreation for morticians was contained in an address delivered at the convention of the Funeral Directors' Association here.

Paul Huth, president, speaking before the assembly, declared:

"All business and professional men need recreation, and since our profession brings us in frequent contact with grief and sorrow we are even more in need of diversion than others. We hope the public will realize the necessity of our entertainment."

Album Leaf—Romance Mischa Elman
(Alkanazi) (Wagner-Wilhelm) (Felix Sala)
The Gondolier's Song—Gondoliera (Rim) Mischa Elman
Wagner's lovely "Album Leaf," in Wilhelm's arrangement for the violin, coupled with Rie's "Gondoliera," and played with consummate skill and beauty by a great artist. Records that speak volumes for the fidelity of Victor recording.

Lucresia Borgia—Veni la mia vendetta José Mardones
(Hale Thor, for Vengeance) (Desmet) (In Italian)
Pipes—Queta notte mentre a letto José Mardones
(At Night While Sleeping) (De Fenech) (In Italian)

Two bass numbers from Italian opera, one tragic, one comic, by this very great artist. They are sung with true splendor of style, by a voice that has known few rivals. If you never have heard a great bass operatic record, here is a surprise for you.

Light Vocal Selections

Love's First Kiss Della Baker 19335 .75
Out of the Dusk to You Della Baker

Love-songs in semi-popular style; neither commonplace nor obscure, but impassioned and beautiful. Sung with intensely living sympathy. Both are by women composers. Emotion is written, composed and sung into them—and perfectly recorded by the Victor process.

Just for Remembrance Elliott Shaw 19358 .75
Just Some Roses Lewis James

Two charming numbers sung with a robustness of sentiment that is refreshing. The second has a fascinating interlude in which violin and cello are most prominent. The Victor kind of semi-popular records that every one enjoys.

Hard Times Eddie Hunter 19359 .75
Mamie Eddie Hunter

New song-records by this famous colored specialist in human tribulation. "Hard Times" and his troubles with "Mamie" between them make an unusual offering. Eddie Hunter can put a lot of humor into a song, and these records present his songs just as he sings them.

Melodious Instrumental

On the Mall—March The Goldman Band 19363 .75
The Pioneer—March The Goldman Band

Two brilliant, cleanly played marches for the brass band. Both are compositions of the conductor's. The first one, with special whistling features by Carson Robinson, is dedicated to the Goldman Band's immense audiences in Central Park, New York. These records will give delight to still greater audiences.

Dance Records

That's the Tune—Fox Trot Charles Dornberger and 19360 .75
(from the New Century Revue "Vogues") His Orchestra

A highly melodious fox trot from the New Century Revue, and a soft, dreamy, languorous one from Russian-Oriental melodies. Both are finely played and easily danced to as presented on these records.

Lonely Little Wallflower—Fox Trot The Benson Orchestra of Chicago 19361 .75
Worryin' Blues—Fox Trot Philip Spitalny and His Orch.

Here is a pleasing combination of fox trots. The first number is gentle and melodious, while its companion is of the comic order. Both are up-to-the-moment in style. Superbly recorded numbers that will meet the approval of dancers everywhere.

Circus Coming Next Tuesday

Big Sells-Floto Shows Will Exhibit in Kingston Tuesday, July 23—Unrivalled Attractions to Please Public.

The famous Sells-Floto Circus is coming to Kingston next Tuesday, July 23, and will exhibit both afternoon and evening at the Kingston Fair Grounds at the foot of North Front street.

Eleven hundred people are required to carry the circus from city to city and to put on the public performance. This large number of employees is made necessary by the size of the big show and the amount of work involved in a spectacular production of its nature.

Spangleland, as the circus frequently is called, has a charm which never dies, and the circus has survived many vicissitudes since it was organized many years ago. Men and women of the older generation find just as much enjoyment in attending the circus now as they did in youthful days, while the younger generation finds there is nothing which compares with the circus for excitement and pleasure.

To say that the Sells-Floto Circus is "bigger and better" this year than ever before is a statement that nobody will controvert. The world war interrupted a steady advance in the way of entertainment which has been resumed since the war ended, and some of the most talented performers in the country seek the tented city as the scene of their activities.

This year the Sells-Floto Circus possesses all the usual features with many new attractions. The equine performances are above the average, the daring bareback riding contains more thrills; the aerial work, including wire dancing and other wire work and the spectacular performances of the iron-jaw girls, is superior to previous years.

Special features this year include Anatole, the pony riding champion; Rocket, the brideless wonder, who heads the largest lofty equine leaping display in spangleland, and other noted acts which have appeared both in the circus and on the vaudeville stage.

This year's spectacular performers include Bee Starr, the celebrated aerialist, who is one of nine gifted girls in the two Ward acts, who has been popular with Ulster county audiences in several former years. There are two hundred women performers with the circus this year, and three hundred women, counting the ballet of seventy, take part in the opulent Egyptian wild animal spectacle which opens the show.

Rotarians Heard A Man Who Knew

Col. Chevalier of Eleventh Engineers Dispel Delusion That a Competent Army Could Spring Into Existence Over Night.

Kingston Rotarians again had the pleasure this week of hearing a man talk who knew what he was talking about. The talk was on national defense and the speaker was Col. W. T. Chevalier, who commanded the Eleventh Engineers at the close of the war. The Eleventh Engineers was the first regiment of volunteers to go to France. The regiment sailed July 14, 1917, and was on duty in September of that year. It was a general utility engineer regiment, doing all kinds of work and, on one occasion, fighting as infantry. Col. Chevalier is now colonel of the 363rd Artillery, a skeleton organization in the reserve corps.

He described himself as "an amateur soldier" and told briefly his personal experiences as an illustration of the experiences of thousands of others. He was without military experience or training until 1916, when he took a course of one month at Plattsburg and was commissioned a captain in the reserve corps. In 1917 he was called to duty and given command of a company in the Eleventh Engineers and came home in command of the regiment. With only 30 days of military training in preparation for the work, he was in charge of from 250 to 5,000 men. Col. Chevalier is business manager of The Engineering News Record.

You wouldn't hire a foreman or a mechanic who had been trained only 30 days for his job, said the speaker, because it would be too risky and expensive, but the government hired me and thousands of others like me for jobs where the cost of mistakes was paid in human lives. No professional man is permitted to practice his profession after 30 days of training and yet the military profession is most technical and intricate. We think of the army officer as one who struts and drills and plays polo. We do not realize the study he must give and that the purpose of his training is that in time of war we may attain victory at the minimum cost in lives. In all other professions men get real practice, but in the army, except in time of war, only hypothetical cases can be dealt with in preparation for the real work, the work that will be the directing of our arms. So it is needless that this training be well done and that sufficient men be trained to head the reserve army, should it ever be called into service. It has been said that a million men would spring to arms over night to defend the country, but the World War showed that while the men might spring to arms, it takes time to find the arms and train the men to use them. It was more than a year after we entered the war before we had a million men armed and trained, and much of their arms had to be supplied by our allies. Not an American made cannon of the sizes most used in battle was fired in France.

In the event of war the regular army and the national guard would be expected to hold the line until the reserves, who would constitute the bulk of the army, could be mobilized, equipped and trained. Who is to do the training? Who is to lead your sons in battle? When congress wants to economize it cuts the army appropriations because there is no army vote and no come-back. The public does not give a damn and never did until 1917 and that is why the government had to take damn fools like me and place us in charge of your boys' lives. Now that the war is over, the public is not interested. We won and we will win again, some way, and anyway there will not be another war. That is the thought of the public.

We finished the World War, but it took us more than a year to get a million men to the front, where there were 7,000,000 other men who had been at the game for two or three years to cover us and hold the line until we got ready to go in. Suppose an enemy landed on our shores—on the Atlantic coast—who would cover us while we were training men and making munitions?

And yet, we cranks who have been through the mill and are holding the skeleton organization of the reserves feel that more interest should be taken and more money spent. We get together at dinners, where each pays for his own meal, in camps, where we pay our own expenses, study text books that we pay for out of our own pockets and buy from the government, in order to so fit ourselves that should the government again call on us to lead men to fight for the government we will not be quite the booby we were in 1917. I am taking a correspondence course from a government school and sometimes have to use maps. These maps I buy from the government, which publishes them and also publishes the text books I buy.

We do this because we who were through the mill know the cost of unpreparedness. We hope the next war will be so far away that we will be too old to fight, but who then will take our places? We study because we know from experience. What of those who have not had our experience unless the reserve is put on a substantial basis and measures taken to train men to head it.

HAND-PAINTED BUCKRAMS.

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

One's ideas of what constitutes a pretty hat are constantly undergoing a change, so that when it comes to pass that one type of hat remains in favor for a considerable length of time, there is consternation among milliners. The cloche just simply has to go. It never does to have a fashion become so entrenched that the necessity of changing one's clothes long before they have outdone their usefulness will be obviated.

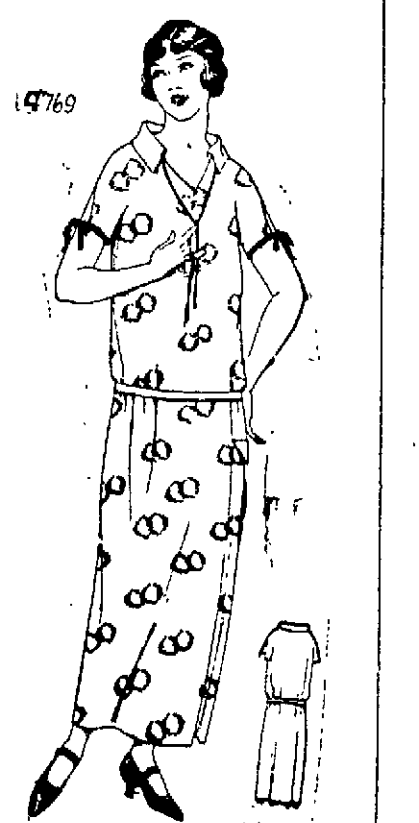

There is every indication that the sailor will, in one form or another supplant the cloche. Spanish influences are the strongest as far as hats are concerned. Reboux, whose word is law to legions of approving sailors: one of her latest versions having a sloping telescope crown as shown. The model is black coltophane, but sailors are made of everything from straw to felt and now comes a hand-painted buckram shape which is an innovation, to say the least. From being the substantial foundation over which a hat is made to the piece de resistance, is a progress of which the buckram shape may well be proud.

The notation accompanying these sketches carefully records that much gold paint is combined with color in the decoration. Fashion is in the humor for gold and silver, just now, even to the extent of wearing large beads; not, however, of the precious metals, but of some silver or gilded composition.

Makers of "Fruit of the Loom" recommend washing their fabrics with Rinso

WHITE cotton fabrics form a good part of your family wash. You have always insisted on having them washed spotless even if it almost broke your back.

But now you can have that same satisfaction without the desperately hard work. You can soak dirt out of your clothes with Rinso, the new kind of soap for the family wash.

Soaking in it loosens all the dirt

Soaking in Rinso takes the place of the hard rubbing that used to wear you out. The Rinso suds are so rich in cleansing power that they loosen even ground-in dirt. Play clothes, collar bands and cuff edges now come clean with a sprinkle of dry Rinso and only a light rubbing between your fingers.

Rich cleansing power lies in these wonderful suds

Be sure to use enough Rinso to get lasting suds after the clothes have been put in. Then soaking in Rinso floats the dirt out.

The secret of Rinso's cleansing power lies in the firm lasting suds. When clothes are very soiled or when the water is hard you will need more Rinso—just let the suds guide you always.

This completely dissolved soapiness will safely soak the dirt right out. Then a good rinse to flush the loosened dirt away and that good-looking wash of yours is ready for the line.

Made by the makers of Lux, this new laundry soap is just as wonderful for the family wash as Lux is for all fine things.

Rinso is also wonderful for washing dishes, for floors, linoleum, woodwork, and enameled surfaces.

Get a supply of Rinso today. All grocers carry it in the regular size and big new package. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Whether you Soak—Boil—or use a Washing Machine—
RINSO is the only soap you need on washday

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

OF MARY GRAHAM BONNER

BIRD TRAVELERS

"There is Mother Plover," said Mother Nature to Billie Brownie.

He is Very Fond of the Water.

"She lives far, far, north, and does most of her traveling at night. She eats and rests during the day. When she gets north she is busy always in bringing up the birdlings. She teaches them to fly, and as the summer is very short way, way, way up north she has hardly taught the children their lessons in flying and in Plover ways before it is time to travel way, way down south again. Oh, what a traveler she is.

"She goes as far north almost as she can and then as far south as she can.

"So that she is almost always traveling because the distances she goes are so great.

"It's my disposition," she said at one time. "I like to go as far north as I can and then after I have been there for a time I think it would be nice for the children to see other countries.

"And I keep on traveling until I get way, way down in South America. There is the Western Grebe and, as his name tells you, he likes the western part of the country. He is very fond of the water and of diving, but he is very, very shy.

"Mr. and Mrs. Pelican and their children are so much at home in their nest that you wouldn't think they would ever more, but they, too, see different parts of the world.

"And often you will see them in a zoo, for they are so interesting to look at, that for those people who cannot travel the Pelican family is brought to them.

"The Sage-Hen family like it where there are few except the wild creatures.

"The gentlemen of this family dress themselves all up when they go courting and puff out their chests and look very handsome, indeed.

"But of all the travelers and of all my children in different parts of the world, I think Mr. and Mrs. Robin and the Robin family are the most friendly of all.

"Just because we may have seen more of the world than some of you have," they seem to say, "we will not put on airs.

"We will be natural and we will make ourselves at home.

"We will not tell you of things that are better in other parts of the country. We will be contented where we are.

"Some travelers are always complaining that what you have in the way of scenery and climate is not up to places they've visited.

"Once we've come and here we will be happy."

"I've heard, too, Billie Brownie, that the Robins want to give a concert for the Fairland and Brownie and people soon."

"Oh, what good news," said Billie Brownie. "I would so like to hear one of their concerts soon."

"I see little Mr. Robin Redbreast now," said Mother Nature. "I will ask him when he would like to give the concert."

So Mother Nature asked little Robin Redbreast when he would like to have the concert, and he told Mother Nature that any time would suit him.

He was always so willing and so obliging.

So it was arranged that the very next morning the concert would be given and the time set for the concert would be dawn.

The concert was given and it was a very beautiful one. Some of the other birds joined in the chorus, for the Robins said other voices should be heard.

But before the concert was over little Robin Redbreast sang this solo:

Chirp, chirp, chirp.
Twit, twit, twit.
On this lawn so lovely
I will stay for a bit.

Chirp, chirp, chirp.
Twit, twit, twit.
I have traveled far
But this here has made a hit.

Chirp, chirp, chirp.
Twit, twit, twit.
Chirp, chirp, chirp.
Twit, twit, twit.

The pleasant things in the world are pleasant thoughts, and the great art in life is to have as many of them as possible—Bovee.

GOOD THINGS FOR THE TABLE

For those who like a substitute for meat in warm weather the nut loaf will be a suggestion:

Nut Loaf.—Cook one cupful of rice in boiling salted water until tender; drain and add two cupfuls of bread crumbs, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, two tablespoonfuls of salt, one and one-half cupfuls of pecans and a dash of cayenne. Add a beaten egg, one tablespoonful of butter and one cupful of milk; add the bread crumbs, toasted, and enough of the milk to make a loaf to keep its shape. Mix all well and place in a baking pan with a little water. Bake twenty minutes. Serve hot with tomato sauce.

Rhubarb and Strawberry Conserve.—Cut into inch-pieces three pounds of fresh, tender rhubarb; cook in water to cover until soft. Add one and one-half cupfuls of sugar and one quart of berries; cook until well heated through. Add the juice of a lemon and simmer until thick. Seal in small cans or glasses.

Celery and Hamburger.—Take two cupfuls of bread crumbs, one cupful of diced celery, one-half cupful of walnut meats, one teaspoonful of poultry dressing, one teaspoonful of salt, cayenne to taste, one teaspoonful of grated onion, one teaspoonful of baking powder and two tablespoonfuls of butter. Soak the crumbs and squeeze dry; add the other ingredients. Put hamburger steak and this stuffing in layers in a baking pan, cover with the stuffing. Bake forty minutes.

Fig Ice Cream.—Soak two pounds of figs over night in orange juice; put through the meat grinder in the morning and return to the juice; steam and cook until soft. To one pint of cream add one quart of milk, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar; boil; add a tablespoonful of lemon juice; cool; add the figs and some lemon rind and freeze as usual.

Frozen Pudding.—Make a custard of a pint of milk, three egg yolks, a cupful of sugar and a pinch of salt. When cool add a half teaspoonful of almond extract, fold in the egg whites beaten stiff and add a cupful of cream which has been whipped.

PHOENICIA.

Phoenixia, July 17.—Mrs. Gillespie's house has been painted by E. Warren, who is now painting Mr. Alshimer's.

F. Kilmer is painting F. Brook's bungalow.

G. Yerry has nearly completed a bungalow on Bungalow avenue for C. Baldwin, who had a building lot in that vicinity. It is nicely arranged in regards to the rooms with a nice high attic.

The Misses Francis Hill, Harriet Loomis, Esther Somerville, S. Minus, Adrian Loomis and Edward Short enjoyed a fishing trip to the Ashokan Reservoir Monday evening. They had more than room in the car for all the fish they caught.

Mrs. O. Hill and Mrs. H. Clancy spent Tuesday with Mrs. Clancy's mother, Mrs. C. Hoyt, at Glenford. Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt used to be neighbors here and all miss them from the place.

The boys are fixing the tennis court on T. McGrath's grounds, near the station where the old court was laid out. They hope to soon have it in shape and enjoy tennis again.

Movies are now on for four times a week.

A large car went into the wall Saturday afternoon near the sharp curve by Gormley's mill. The car was broken and the man thrown through the wind shield was hurt quite badly. Others were frightened and jarred.

The Aid of the M. E. and Baptist churches and the Francis De Sales Church will have their annual fair. All have a line of variety in fancy and useful articles besides quilts, rugs and all kinds of refreshments.

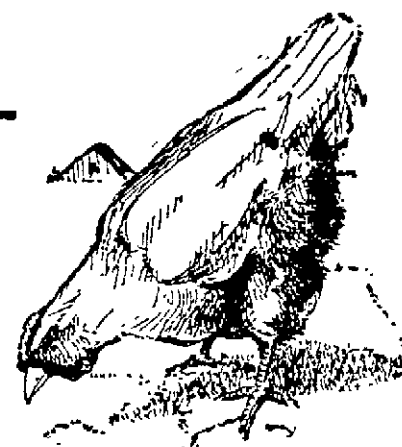

S. Grant who was stricken with high blood pressure is now able to be on the porch. Dr. Wolf attended him.

Odor of Paint

After a room has been painted, an excellent way to remove the smell of the paint is to place a pail of water, to which have been added a few slices of raw onion, in the room and leave it there overnight. Keep the doors and windows closed and the smell will be entirely gone by morning.

Yeast-fermentation!—

Everywhere today that's the cry of successful breeders who know it is the greatest advance in poultry husbandry in twenty years

FERMENTATION of poultry feeds with Fleischmann's Pure Dry Yeast makes even the best ration better. By making the feed more palatable and easier to digest, it makes proper feeding possible. And proper feeding is the solution of most poultry problems.

When Fleischmann's Pure Dry Yeast, dissolved in water or milk, is added to your poultry feed, it starts at once to ferment. After the mixture has stood from 12 to 24 hours, the whole character of the feed is changed. The fermentation breaks down the hard, tight-packed granules of the feed (which must be broken down before they can be digested) and acts upon them in a way similar to digestion itself.

The fowl's system can then complete the process quickly and easily. The body turns food into flesh and energy at astounding speed! Young birds grow quickly into pullets. Laying stock do not lose their vitality during the fall and winter laying season. Hens weather the molting period quickly and easily. Yeast-fed birds lay eggs with a high percentage of fertility.

You can get Fleischmann's Pure Dry Yeast right here in town. Come in today, ask for a free booklet, and take a package home. You'll soon be surprised by the general improvement among your birds!

$22,000,000 IN ANNUAL INTEREST CHARGES SAVED

United States Treasury Issues New Securities to Take Place of High-Rate Paper.

Washington.—The June fiscal operations of the treasury, while ranking among the smallest of postwar financial issues, will have a wider permanent effect in the way of cuts in fixed expenditures of the government than most of the quarterly operations in the last five years.

Treasury experts have calculated that a saving of approximately $22,000,000 in annual interest charges will result from the change in the public debt situation accomplished in June.

About $150,000,000 in new securities have gone on the market from the treasury this month, but proceeds from these with balances on hand and payments in the second tax installment will retire something like $445,000,000 in treasury notes and tax certificates which matured June 15.

The tax certificates bore 4 per cent and the treasury notes, which were issued in 1921, carried 5 1/2 per cent interest. The new certificates pay only 2 1/2 per cent interest, the lowest rate of any government security since the issue of Panama canal bonds.

At the same time the British government made a payment of $59,000,000, which, under the law, must be used to retire the American wartime debt. That payment therefore will cut off $59,000,000 of Liberty bonds bearing an average of almost 4 per cent interest.

While the cut in the total debt brought about by this one operation appears as a drop in the bucket when considered alongside the national debt of more than $21,000,000,000, treasury officials point with satisfaction to the amount of interest that would have to be paid and that means taxes to be raised, provided there was no reduction in the debt.

The treasury has issued only $150,000,000 in new securities, while it has retired and destroyed a total of $221,000,000 in outstanding debt.

Meet Captain Thomas; You Know Him.

CAPT FRED H. THOMAS

This will introduce Captain Fred H. Thomas, staff specialist, Officers Reserve Corps, U. S. Army, now on duty at the training camp at Plattsburg, N. Y. You know the captain far better by his old ring title, Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of the world from 1914 until Benny Leonard won the title from him in 1917. Captain Thomas teaches boxing, as part of the athletic training at the camp.

Immense Belt of Air Surrounds the Earth

Man devotes a lot of attention to the air these days. Now that radio concerts are drifting through the air for twenty-four hours a day and modern dirigibles are circumnavigating the globe in flying machines, the air has achieved an importance never accorded it in the days when it was employed almost exclusively for breathing purposes. And in view of the new fame it has achieved, it is a coincidence that science has discovered that apparently more air surrounds the earth than ever before was suspected.

A short time ago the Abbe Moreaux, noted French astronomer, announced that scientific tests seemed to indicate that the atmosphere extended about 340 miles beyond the earth's surface. This is more than five times as far as science previously had estimated the atmosphere's height.

The apparent existence of this unknown atmosphere layer was determined by ingenious observations of the aurora borealis. Simultaneous exposure of more than six hundred photographs from different points and subsequent mathematical calculation indicated that the aurora extended its electrical manifestations 340 miles above the earth. It was assumed that these phenomena could not display themselves in empty space, and it was concluded in consequence that there must be some sort of atmosphere 340 miles or more away.—Popular Science Monthly.

U. S. Army Doctors Find Whooping Cough Cure

Washington.—Members of the army "gas house" found a cure for whooping cough.

No longer must fond mothers wait for the ailment to "run its course"—a traditional "course" of six weeks. Army ingenuity and chlorine gas will send Johnny and Mary back to school in four-days' time.

Experiments at Edgewood arsenal, Md., where the Chemical Warfare service has its laboratories, have established the efficacy of chlorine gas for a number of bronchial ailments.

The whooping cough treatment is very like that which President Coolidge took in Washington for his cold. The only difference is that it requires an hour's inhalation of gas for four successive days—and that the ratio of gas and air is slightly varied.

Coincidentally with the announcement of the new cure, army physicians predicted that a few years will see a special gas chamber in every school, with specially trained nurses to administer the treatment. The result, they say, will be a higher standard of health among school children and the virtual disappearance of bronchial and nasal epidemics.

Sexton a Useful Man, Rings Bell, Writes Boy

Munich.—Schoolboys in a Munich suburb were instructed recently to write a composition about the sexton in the local church, and the following effort attracted so much attention that it is being reproduced in many Bavarian newspapers.

"The sexton is a useful man. He rings the bells at five in the morning so the people know they may sleep two hours longer. At eleven he rings the bells again, indicating to the farmers in the field that they should become hungry. In the evening there is more bell ringing, which indicates to small children that they will get their ears boxed if they do not run home rapidly. Sometimes the sexton is very troublesome, especially when he rings at night to announce a fire. The sexton thrives on weddings, christenings and the dead. He earns the most money through death. Therefore he is glad when many people die."

Nigerians Prospering Under Rule of British

London.—An example of the benefits of rule by a large power over an indigent people is found in the case of the British domination in Nigeria, says Sir Hugh Clifford, the Nigerian governor, who is in England on leave.

The natives of Nigeria for the most part are peaceful and contented and living on a scale of life they have never known before, Sir Hugh says.

The British rule has destroyed the slave trade and stopped tribal warfare, with the result that the people are expending their energies in other and more beneficial directions. They have become good farmers or industrial workers and are capable of operating farms without government supervision.

The most noticeable effect of British rule, however, has been in the commerce of the colony. The exports now average nearly $50,000,000 annually, which is ten times the estimated value for 1913.

Cowbird Shirks Duty of Raising Its Young

So far as known, cowbirds never build nests. They do not even pair. A general system of concubinage prevails among them. The female cowbird secretly deposits her eggs in the nests of other birds, generally of smaller species such as vireos and field sparrows. In this respect the cowbird resembles the European cuckoo. The young cowbird is reared in the nest of a strange bird. Just as soon as it can fly it leaves the nest of its nurse and seeks the company of other cowbirds which have come into the world in the same disgraceful manner. There are many cases where the young cowbird, which is much the larger bird, crowds the young vireos or sparrows entirely out of the nest. The other birds never detect the deception and go on feeding the young cowbird until it can fly. The cowbird, which is found in the United States, Canada and Mexico, is black in color with a coffee-brown head. It is so called because it is fond of the company of cows. Whole flocks of cowbirds may be seen following the grazing cattle about the pasture.

"By Jove!" drawled her self-important neighbor.

"I've got some medicine for him, but it doesn't seem to be helping much."

"By Jove!" drawled the visitor again.

"Mummie," broke in little Dolly, "why not take the gentleman's advice and buy some 'Jove'?"—Detroit Free Press.

Should Buy Some

"Yes, poor little Tommy seems very queer," remarked Mrs. Jones to her visitor. "I really don't know what to do for the best."

"By Jove!" drawled the visitor again.

"Mummie," broke in little Dolly, "why not take the gentleman's advice and buy some 'Jove'?"—Detroit Free Press.

Overshadowing Genius

"We have persuaded one of the most eloquent of our prominent citizens to introduce you as the speaker of the evening."

"I appreciate the compliment," answered Senator Sorghum. "Only the trouble about an eloquent introduction is that your audience is liable to get enthusiastic and regard the invited speaker as interrupting what might have been a pleasant occasion."—Washington Star.

Gates Have History

A pair of wooden gates which stood in front of the palace of beauty at the British Empire exhibition are copies of the sacred gates of the Tiberian mosque and have a most romantic and tragic history. They were made by a poor Persian wood-carver, who defied the decrees that they were not to be copied. Each day he made a pilgrimage to the mosque, committed some detail to memory, and then went home and wrought it in the wood. But his visits caused suspicion to fall upon him, he was watched, his secret discovered, and, on the completion of his task, he was found murdered, and his work disappeared. Presently the gates came into the hands of Persian dealers, who sold them at a sacrifice rather than keep them, and at length they were recognized in a small London shop, and became one of Wembley's multitude of attractions.

Jesus' Mother Tongue

The mother tongue of Jesus was probably the Syriac dialect of the Aramaic language which was generally spoken in Palestine, Syria and Mesopotamia. The people of Galilee, where Jesus was brought up, generally spoke the provincial language with a peculiar accent, which distinguished them from the people of Jerusalem and other parts of Palestine (Mark 14:70 and Matthew 26:73). There appears to be no evidence that Jesus ever spoke any foreign tongue such as Greek or Latin. Neither is it likely that he could read the Hebrew in the original, although the Syriac language which he spoke contained many Hebrew words in its vocabulary.—Pathfinder Magazine.

To Clean a Watch

To keep the works of a watch clean cut a piece of white paper the size of the cover and, after soaking the paper in petrol, place it within the inner case. The paper should be periodically removed and a fresh piece, also soaked in petrol, substituted. The same plan may be adopted for small and medium-sized clocks.

Richards Won Thrilling Match

From French Tennis Star Before
Large Cheering Crowd—American Boy Steadied in Final Sets And Pulled Out Victorious.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, July 17.—Vincent Richards, the American ace and member of last year's Davis Cup team, today fought his way into the semi-final round in the Olympic tennis tournament, men's singles, when he defeated Rene Lacoste, the French star, in a thrilling five set match.

The "boy wonder" had to come from behind to win from the Frenchman Lacoste, after losing the first set, 6 to 3, came back and, turning a brand of tennis that had Richards bewildered, winning the second and third sets. Richards, however, recovered his form, and his dazzling speed had the Frenchmen dizzy, and he won the fourth and fifth sets in the match. The scores: 5-6; 1-6; 1-6; 6-2; 6-3.

Both Richards and Lacoste found their attempt to come up to the net very disastrous and confined themselves to the center and back courts.
Lacoste's control was the acme of perfection.

The match drew an enthusiastic crowd, 2,000 spectators cheering the contestants.

The first set went to fourteen games before Richards was returned a winner.

In the second set the games went to four all when Richards became erratic. Lacoste pulled off some long brilliant ground strokes, taking the final two games and the set.

Lacoste ran up continuous victories in the third set, having five games to his credit before Richards could win one. The American star continued erratic, but took the sixth game. The Frenchman, however, won the set on the next game.

The ten minute rest the contestants received after the third set served as an incentive to Richards.
He won five straight games of the fourth set before Lacoste was able to hit his stride and took two love games. Richards won the set by going out on his own service.

A heavy, steady drizzle fell during the playing of the fifth and deciding set. Despite this it produced the most brilliant tennis of the tournament. Richards showed a greater variety of strokes, finally breaking through Lacoste's service in the fifth game and winning five straight games, the set and match.

Second Defeat
For U. S. Boxers

Eagan Lost Great Fight to Clifton of England—Argentinian and British Have Greatest Team Ability—
Lazarus May Fight Again.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, July 17.—What is worrying the American boxers most at the present time is how to receive the traditional kisses given by European boxers when they are defeated.

Jack Fields, the Los Angeles high school boy, presented a bloody face after he had been kissed by Hansen, whom he had defeated and whose face he had cut up.

There is no lack of sportsmanship between rounds of the gong at the Veldrome. The French spectators take defeat as well as victory in the same spirit. French officials are treating all competitors with courtesy and fairness.

The American boxing coach says however, it is rarely that he has seen such a cruel and unjust decision as that given Joe Lazarus, the Cornell youth, who was disqualified. Lazarus is the cleanest and fairest boxer I have ever seen.

Just before Lazarus knocked out his opponent, neither of the boys were in a clinch and if the referee did call a break before Joe brought over his double punch it could not have been heard in the opposite corner of the ring because of the noise of the crowd.

Here in the Olympic tournament
the referee sits outside the ring.
At the time of the knockout he happened to be in the opposite corner.
The Swedes are not willing to take advantage of such an unpopular verdict and would like to have the match fought over again. The referee no believes he made a mistake and hopes that the bout will be fought over.

Edward P. Eagan suffered the second defeat the American team encountered, losing a close fight to Clifton, of England, the man whom Eddie beat twice in the last six months. Eddie put up a great fight but the sight of blood from an old cut opened up by Clifton on Eddie's head in the second round probably cost Eagan the decision.

Clifton is a well schooled boxer of the English type but does not appear to stand up before the crashing blow of a man like Porzio, the huge Argentinian, who defeated Tegulhan, the Frenchman Porzio is built like

Fred Fulton, the Minneapolis plasterer, has a right like Luis Firpo and division.

E. G. Greathouse, our entry in the heavy-weight class from Washington, Penna, who punched his way to victory against Calinai, the Frenchman, may defeat Porzio but will be handicapped because of the Argentinian superior size.

Sizing it all up the Argentinian and the British continue to show the greatest team strength.

Big Night for Battery B

Tonight at the Armory the officers and men of Battery B, 156th Field Artillery, will have as their guests the commanding officer of the regiment, Col. Raphael A. Egan of Newburgh. As this is his first visit to Kingston since he assumed command on April 26th, the men of B Battery are more than pleased that he has selected their drill night for his official visit and are out to show him that B Battery is still the crack battery of the regiment as it was last year under the name of Battery I, 132nd Ammunition Train. Captain Sumner H. Needham, Regular Army instructor attached to the 156th Field Artillery, will accompany Col Egan.

Equipment for 114 men, which is the peace strength of a battery of Field Artillery, has been received, and the 70 men of the battery have been fully equipped for field duty.

Battery B will do its two weeks tour of camp this year at Pine Camp which is near Watertown, and the men will entrain at Rhinecliff on Saturday night, July 26th. The men will travel in Pullman sleepers direct to the camp arriving there Sunday morning. This camp is a permanent tent camp with ample ranges for artillery firing, and is equipped with electric lights in all streets and tents, running water, shower baths, etc. The kitchens and mess halls are already set up, and the cooks, who will leave on Thursday, July 24th, will have a piping hot breakfast ready when the regiment detrains.

The program of instruction as laid out is very interesting and with Wednesday and Saturday half holidays the men will thoroughly enjoy every minute of the tour just as they did last year at Fort Eustis, Va. Bathing will be permitted in the Black River.

Physical and athletic training is always an important feature of National Guard camps and coupled with the outdoor life and army mess nearly every soldier gains from five to ten pounds during the two weeks tour.

Immediately following the drill tonight the mess sergeant and cooks will serve ice cream to the guests and members of the battery. The commanding officer of Battery B, Captain Charles N. Bohm, desires to add about 20 recruits to the roster and any young man over 18 who is interested may obtain information from him at tonight's drill.

Experiments Show How Octopus Secures Prey

Experiments have been made in a specially devised tank, in order to test the truth of many stories told of octopi attacking human beings and dragging them to the sea bottom. In the tank with the octopus experimented with there was placed a "dummy" of the same specific gravity as a man, and this was baited with a crab. Attracted by this tempting morsel, the octopus made for the figure, seized it in its powerful tentacles, and tried to drag it under water, but without success. It then went to one side of the tank and, holding onto the edge of the glass with some of its arms, it dragged its prey beneath the surface and crushed the crab shell with its powerful jaws.

It is believed that these experiments afford proof that the octopus can drag its victims far below the surface of the water only near rocks to which it can attach its "suckers." There is one spot in the Bay of Naples where these creatures attack a large ship, and now and then a fisherman is reported missing. It is thought that such disappearances are due to the unfortunate man's being caught by the tentacles of a concealed octopus and dragged under water. In the case of such a repulsive and powerful creature as the octopus, it is difficult to separate fact from fiction.

Victory Achieved in Keeping Soul Young

Byron reminds us that "time writes no wrinkles on the azure brow of the ocean," but can we say that there is any other brow anywhere upon which he does not place his tell-tale marks? We look into the glass with a close scrutiny some day and the face that greets us there shows unmistakable signs of his passing.

And yet we wonder if it is quite right to blame all that we see in the glass on Time, when we think of the needless worry and fret with which we crowd our lives. But the brow of a man's soul—is it not possible to keep it free from the furrows and scars and wrinkles that are left elsewhere?

Even if we have to allow that the weight of the years and the years' cares and responsibilities and disappointments must bend down the frame a little, and take from the step something of its elasticity, might we not hope that the soul would be able to keep young and fresh and buoyant through all the years?

If we could manage to keep the soul young, why need we care what else may happen? If we could learn the secret of how that could be done would it not be one of the finest lessons we had learned all our life through?—Exchange.

Got "Peeping Tom"

Something exceedingly antique and rare in the legal line was presented in Rochdale, England, when a young man was arraigned in the magistrate's court on the charge of "unlawfully listening by night under walls, windows and eaves of Rochdale infirmary, to hearken after the discourse, and therefrom to frame slanders and malicious tales." He resisted capture when caught up a spout looking through the nurses' sitting-room window and was struck on the head with a hammer by an infirmary official, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. The charge was preferred under an old common law respecting "night walkers and eavesdroppers."

REAL LOVE LETTERS THINGS OF THE PAST?

Modern Missives Not Characterized by Fervency.

In these degenerate days, when to be sentimental is to be silly, and when we boast that we do not "wear our hearts on our sleeves," the art of writing a love letter worthy of the name is in danger of being altogether lost, says London Answers.

The letter of today is, with rare exceptions, a "mere business mislaid," with few of the hopes and fears, the heart throbs, the "splendid sentiments and rare, sweet raptures" that a modern lover feels just as much as his predecessors did.

In former days it was a man's pride and pleasure to pour out his very soul on paper, in ardent homage to the lady of his choice. On such of his letters as survive, though their pages are yellow and the ink faded, the words still burn with the tenderness and passion that inspired them.

Thus, in one of the letters of John Churchill, the great duke of Marlborough, to Sarah Jennings, we read:

"I do love and adore you with all my heart and soul—so much that I do and will ever be better pleased with your happiness than my own. But—oh, my soul!—if we might both be happy, what inexpressible joy that would be! I will not dare to expect more favors than you shall see fit to give me; but, could you love me, I think the happiness would be so great that it would make me immortal."

Keats also was a great lover. He wrote to Fanny Brawne: "I never knew before what such a love as you have made me feel was; I did not believe in it; my fancy was afraid of it, lest it should burn me up. I would never see anything but pleasure in your eyes, love on your lips and happiness in your steps."

"My dear girl, I love you ever and ever and without reserve. The more I have known the more have I loved. Even my jealousies have been agonies of love; in the hottest fit I have ever had I would have died for you. The last of your kisses was ever the sweetest, the last smile the brightest, the last movement the gracefullest."

William Hazlitt's love letters, too, have the authentic note. He wrote to Sarah Walker: "When I think of the thousand of enduring caresses that have passed between us I do not wonder at the strong attachment that draws me to you. I hear the wind sigh through the lattice, and keep repeating over and over to myself two lines of Byron's tragedy:

So shalt thou and me ever at thy side,
Here and hereafter, if the last may be, applying them to thee, my love, and thinking whether I shall ever see thee again. Perhaps not—for some years at least, till both thou and I are old, and then, when all else have forsaken thee I will creep to thee and die in thy arms."

These are a few extracts only from the letters of long-dead lovers, whose delight it was to pour out their very souls to the ladies whom they loved. Who can doubt that they were read and treasured with a joy which the careless, cold-blooded letters of the modern lover can never inspire?

China's Use of Opium

It is believed that Arabs introduced the use of opium into China in the fifteenth century. It reached India simultaneously. A Chinese author states that it was under the Ming dynasty, which reigned from 1368 to 1644, that the use became general of "the pill called Elixir of Gold which, used to excess, results in detriment to the health." At that time the opium consumed in China was grown in the country itself; when the habit of smoking became widespread, China began to import considerable quantities of opium from India. The tobacco of the Philippines had been introduced into China in 1620, and it is only since the Eighteenth century that the custom has become general of smoking the crude opium, instead of the tobacco impregnated with opium originally used by the inhabitants of Java and Formosa.

Tortoise Shell

Tortoise shell is used as veneering in fine cabinet work. It is cut for such purpose in exactly the same manner as any of the fine woods. There are two grades of thickness, the saw cut and the knife cut. The first, averaging from 1-32 to 1-16 of an inch in thickness, is cut with a small saw. The knife cut makes from 60 to 100 sheets to an inch. The knife is used something like a plane. The object is fixed on a table and the knife blade works backwards and forwards. Tortoise shell was formerly cut by hand about one-eighth of an inch in thickness and then planed. It may be softened by gentle heat and then be cut readily.

Danger in Searchlight

Searchlight rays so powerful as to develop "sunburn" upon any person who gets in close proximity, come from a light constructed by the Sperry-Gyroscopic company on Long Island. The light is 80,000,000 candlepower and it has a lens with a diameter of 60 inches. The beam can be flashed over a distance of 50 miles.

CLINTON AVENUE DEFEATS CHURCH OF COMFORTER

Wednesday night at the Fair Grounds the Clinton Avenue Sunday school team defeated the Church of the Comforter ball tossers, champions of the Sunday School League, by a 7-6 score. The game was very fast and interesting from start to finish. It was scheduled for 7 innings but lasted only six on account of darkness. K. Williams was on the mound for the losers and although he struck out 11 men was

MOHICAN MARKET

ARE YOU depending upon the Mohican for your Bake Goods these Summer Days? We are daily getting compliments. Some one will speak about the Cup Cakes, another about the Layer Cakes. One lady said the Crullers are most wonderful she ever had, so light and fresh. These words of praise help up to push along to a higher plane of usefulness if that be possible.

Finds Freeman Advertising Pays

Ben Fein of the New York Sample Shop, on Wall street, thus speaks of the value of advertising in The Freeman: "I only advertised in The Freeman a sale, using one page advertisement and used no other advertisements or circulars whatsoever. It brought such big results that one quarter of the very large stock was sold on the first day of the sale."

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRES

At the Kingston Opera House this evening, "The Spirit of the U. S. A." will be screened for the last time. Large crowds have enjoyed this picture since its showings here. "The Acquittal" is now showing at the Keene theatre. This is a universal popularization of Rita Weiman's stage play. At the Auditorium tonight Betty Blythe in "Sinner or Saint" if you were to judge by her beauty and charm, she was a saint. But if you were to judge by her actions, she was a sinner!

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Rose Basler, wife of Charles Moran, died suddenly, in New York city, Tuesday, July 15. Besides her husband she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. E. Rath and Alice Moran, also three sons, William, Walter and Thomas. Funeral from her late residence, No. 2801 Valentine avenue, New York city, Friday, July 18, at 10 a. m., thence to the Church of the Ascension, 107th street and Broadway, with a requiem Mass for the repose of her soul at 11 a. m. Interment in Calvary cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Catherine Rleser was held from her late home, No. 16 Adams street this morning at 9 o'clock and 9:30 at St. Peter's Church, where a requiem Mass was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. J. P. Newmann. The services were very largely attended, the church being filled with sorrowing relatives and friends, and large delegations from the Societies of the Christian Mothers and St. Barbara's auxiliary of St. Peter's Church. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, testifying to the high esteem in which she was held by all who knew her. During the Mass John Raible sang "Sacred Solemnity," and at the conclusion of the Mass, Miss Marie Belcher, a grand daughter of the deceased very feelingly sang "Jesus, Jesus, Come to Me." The bearers were all members of the family. The remains were laid to rest in the family plot in St. Peter's Cemetery, where the Rev. Father Newmann conducted the committal services.

PORT EWEEN.

Port Eween, July 17.—A card party will be held in the rooms of the Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, Wednesday evening, August 19. Pinocle and the hundred will be played. Refreshments will be served for the benefit of the fund.

Anton Stodi, Jr., of Brooklyn, N. Y., is visiting his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stodi, at their home on Beaver street.

Miss Adelaide Harnes of Jersey City is the guest of her friend, Miss Dr. Van Van, on Broadway.

Miss Fred B. Smith of Salem street is visiting her sister, Mrs. L. Evans, in Stockport, N. Y., for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Connelly and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Connelly and Thomas, sons of J. J. Connelly, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Baker on Broadway.

Miss Munson of Kingston is the guest of Miss Patricia Munson on Broadway.

Mrs. Anna Tucker and son, Thomas, and daughter, Anna Katherine, of Connelly, spent Wednesday with Mrs. Kathryn Griffin on Broadway.

Members of Episcopate Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, wishing to attend Kingston Council Monthly service will kindly notify Miss Mary P. Brown, and conveyances will be provided. There was a large attendance at the block party Wednesday evening. People were present from Kingston, Episcopate, Union Center and Stoughtonville. The block was beautifully decorated with Old Glory and pennants. The decorations were Harry Mahle, John Holliday, Charles Deaver and Robert Torrens. It surely presented a fine appearance and these gentlemen deserve much credit. The entertainment was exceptionally good. Mother Goose and her assistants gave lots of surprises and fun to the children, who looked around her. The cats were well patronized and much enjoyed. The whole affair was a social and financial success and the general committee wishes to thank all who helped in any way to make the party so successful.

Robert Torrens, Jr., who has been spending a week in Brooklyn, has returned to his home on Broadway.

Mrs. Webster Munson, who was recently operated upon at Kingston City Hospital, was brought to her home on Broadway Wednesday evening. Mrs. Munson is setting along fine.

Marcus Ostrander who has spent some time at Hunter, N. Y., returned to his home on Riverside avenue Wednesday.

Garage and Car Destroyed.
Fire early this morning destroyed a small garage and a car of Stanley Conlon on Park avenue, near South Prospect street. A still alarm was first sent to Central fire station and after the firemen were there some one rang in an alarm from Box 72 at 4 o'clock, which called out the uptown companies.

St. Louis Swept By Cyclone

By Telegram to The Freeman.
St. Louis, July 17.—A cyclonic storm swept over St. Louis this morning, snapping off trees and telephone poles, damaging buildings and crippling wire and power service. Scores of trees, set by fallen live wires, brought additional menace, the fire department being handicapped by the paralyzing of the alarm system.

Broker Dead, Shot in Head

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 17.—The body of Victor Lowrey, said to be a Wall street broker, was found in his room at the Hotel Pennsylvania today. He was shot through the head. A revolver in his right hand led police to the belief that he killed himself. Hotel employees who heard the shot rushed to the room and found the body.

Lowrey left two notes. One of them was addressed to Dr. Gardener the other to the hotel. The police wouldn't give out the contents of either other than to say that no reason for his act was given.

Forced to Do Public Penance for Slander

Public penance was the punishment meted out to slanders as recently as the Nineteenth century. In 1822 thousands of persons assembled in Bethel Green church, London, and the adjoining thoroughfares, attracted thither by the announcement that a young married woman, named Sarah Green, had been ordered by the surrogate of the ecclesiastical church to do penance in the church for having called her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ann Johnson, an opprobrious name. The order said she was to stand in a white sheet, but this was dispensed with, inasmuch, it is said, to the disappointment of the spectators, Mrs. Green, who is described as being "a very fine young woman," was attired in a white dress, and repeated the following recantation in the vestry in the presence of the rector, church wardens, the person calumniated, and five or six of her relations:

"I, Sarah Green, wife of James Green, have uttered and spoken several scandalous and opprobrious words against Ann Johnson, wife of William Johnson of St. Matthew, Bethnal Green, to the great offense of Almighty God, the scandal of the Christian religion, and the injury and reproach of my neighbor's credit, by calling her 'I do, therefore, before God and you, humbly confess and acknowledge such offense, and am heartily sorry for the same, and do ask her forgiveness, and promise hereafter never to offend her in the like manner, God assisting me.'"

Mrs. Green appeared very much affected; and after the form was gone through was led out of the church by the deacons, who conducted her safely through the mob, and she was conveyed home in a coach.

Diversity in Retail Trade Is Spreading

"John," said the affectionate wife, "before you come home tonight will you stop at the drug store and get me one of those electric nailtrons they advertise for $3.98 and a pound of tea?"

"Yes," said the loving husband, "and when I go out to get my luncheon in the cigar store I'll buy you a nice box of candy."

At how many kinds of stores can you buy a safety razor? ask the Nation's Business. Hardware stores, drug stores, cigar stores, stores that deal in men's clothing, department stores, sporting-goods stores, occasionally in stores that began by selling candy and later carried tobacco.

These instances could be multiplied indefinitely to show the increase in diversification that has come over retailing in the last few years in this country.

Millions From Ocean

Waters of the Indian ocean off western Australia have given up mother-of-pearl shell worth $11,000,000.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 17.—Oil stocks again resisted the combined weight of professional selling and liquidation, induced by unfavorable developments in the petroleum industry today, and railroad stocks made further progress in their steady march to higher price levels, despite occasional sorties against the market by professional sellers, who were inclined to test the strength of present price structure. On the whole the market gave a good account of itself, in which respect it duplicated the record of the grain and cotton markets where higher prices generally prevailed.

Dealings in railroad shares were very heavy today and new high price records were hung up almost simultaneously with the decline of specialty and steel stocks to new lows for 1924. Many of the low priced rails which have heretofore been conspicuous for advance from the trading lists, commanded more attention today. Rock Island, assumed the leadership in this group in the late trading and spurted 2 1/4 points to a new high above 34.

Atlantic Refining hit back at the shorts in its sharp rally to 84, up 4 points, while Marland, Cosden and Phillips advanced nearly a point from their low levels. Local traction stocks, including Interboro and Brooklyn Manhattan Transit, made an improvement on the highest prices recorded in yesterday's sharp advance. Steel stocks were again irregular.

The forward movement in prices proceeded vigorously in the last hour, with all departments of the market participating. Oil stocks threw off their reactionary tone, and were well up in the front on this closing rally. Local traction stocks were featured by a 10 point advance in Manhattan Elevated guaranteed 4 per cent stock to 69 1/2. Copper stocks were active at higher prices and market leaders climbed back to their high levels of the first hour.

Oneonta Here Over Week End

Rain prevented the second game of the Colonial-Glens Falls series at Glens Falls Wednesday. Today the Schrickmen are playing the Amsterdam K. of C. team at Amsterdam. On Saturday and Sunday the Oneonta Glens will be the attraction at the Fair Grounds. The series between the Oneonta team and the Schrickmen stand in favor of the Oneonta team. If the locals take both of these games, the series of games will be in their favor 5 to 4. Due to the cancellation of games between the Tannersville team and the locals and the Poughkeepsie Red Sox and the locals, a new schedule of games will have to be arranged to furnish local fan with contests.

Weissmuller in Double Victory

Over Australian Swimmer — Will Compete in Finals Friday—American Women Swimmers Also Showed Class.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Paris, July 17.—For the second time in as many days Johnny Weissmuller, the "human fish" from the Illinois A. C. Chicago, defeated Roy Charlton, the Australian swimmer.

The American swimmer yesterday took the measure of the Australian in the preliminaries of the 400 metre race, free style, although both qualified. Today in the semi-finals for the events the Chicago swimmer shot across the finish line 20 yards in front of Charlton, covering the distance in five minutes, 13 1-5 seconds, nine seconds faster than the time yesterday.

Lester Smith, of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, was third. Weissmuller was the only American to qualify for the final in the 400 metre race. He will swim the final tomorrow, competing against Charlton, Hatfield, Great Britain, Arne Borg and Ake Borg, Sweden.

Warren Kealoha, the Hawaiian swimmer, set a new Olympic record for the 100 metre, backstroke, in winning his semi-final heat in one minute 13 3-5 seconds. Paul Wyatt, of the Uniontown, Penna. Y. M. C. A., was second. Both qualified for the finals tomorrow.

American women swimmers also showed their class today when in the semi-finals of the spring board diving contest Miss Elizabeth Becker, of Philadelphia, and Miss Carol Fletcher, of Los Angeles, won their respective heats. Miss Aileen Riggins, of New York, finished second to Miss Becker and Miss Burnett, of Australia, third. Miss Johnson and Miss Olliver, both of Sweden, were second and third, respectively, to Miss Fletcher.

PRUDENTIAL MEN AND FAMILIES ON OUTING.

Over one hundred men and women in twenty-five automobiles, employees of the Prudential Insurance Company, and their wives and sweethearts, left the office of the Kingston agency, John street, this morning at 10:30 o'clock for Golden Rule Inn, Ulster Park. It is the annual outing and besides a big dinner there are games and out door sports on the program.

Wall Street Property Sold.

Mrs. Susie Fowler has purchased from Louis Amdur and wife their two family dwelling located at 191-193 Wall street. Mrs. Fowler will continue her home on Downs street for the present and has leased the property which she has just purchased. This sale was negotiated by Frank S. Hyatt of the Ulster Realty Agency.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES IN THE MAJOR LEAGUE.

The Tigers made a big gain in the American League pennant fight when they defeated the Red Sox in a double header, while the Yankees were losing to the Indians and the Senators were idle. The Yankees now lead by one game, with the Senators second half a game in front of the Tigers.

In the National League the Giants further increased their lead when they defeated the Pirates while the Cubs bowed to the Phillies. The Giants' lead is now 10 1/2 games.

George Kelly knocked out his sixth home run in five games and his seventh of the present western trip of the Giants.

The Dodgers and Reds split even. Brooklyn's victory in the first being due to Dazzy Vance's fine twirling in the pinches.

The Athletics checked the White Sox advance when they won both games of the twin bill, 5 to 0 and 6 to 5.

The Cardinals began to drive to get out of the cellar and took both games from the Braves, 7 to 4 and 11 to 3.
